LOUISA, LAWRENCE COUNTY, KENTUCKY NOVEMBER 16, 1917.

M. F. CONLEY, Publisher

ANSWERING CALL OF THE Y. M. C. A.

ORGANIZATION MADE TO COLLECT QUOTA ASSESSED AGAINST LAWRENCE.

The Army Work branch of the Young Men's Christian Association is making a drive this week to raise thirty-five millions of dollars in the United States to carry on the great work it is doing in our camps and on the firing line in France, or wherever U. S. soldiers are located.

Kentucky's share is $400,000. Louisville has assumed half of this. The Big Sandy district is to raise $19,500. Of this amount Boyd county pledged $15,000. Lawrence county is assessed only $150.

Mr. Zerfoss was in Louisa Monday to start the movement. A meeting was advertised for Tuesday night at the court house and an organization was perfected for raising the $750. Mayor L. L. Vinson called the meeting to order and was elected permanent chairman. Rev. Chambers made the opening prayer. At the request of the chairman Rev. Houtwick stated the object of the meeting. Rev. Chambers was called upon to make a talk on the religious phase of the Y. M. C. A. work. He attended a meeting at Ashland last Friday and heard the subject fully discussed. He gave a brief review of the facts given out at that meeting.

Interesting talks by F. H. Yates, Dock Jordan and Col. Northrup followed, emphasizing this work as one of the very greatest and most practical in the entire realm of the war service. After considerable discussion committees were formed to make a canvass of the town and country. It is a work in which the whole county wants a part and should have it.

The Y. M. C. A. is doing every thing that the government is leaving undone for the comfort, wholesome entertainment and safety of the boys in training and at the front. The Y. M. C. A. buildings are called by the boys "our second home." In brief here is what it supplies:

- Provides building for social center.
- Stationary for men to "write home."
- Newspapers and books.
- Checkers, Chess, Dominoes, etc.
- Volleyball, Baseball, Football
- Motion Pictures.
- Entertainments of all kinds.
- Using Camp talent, stunts.
- Victrola and Piano.
- Lectures, Educational Classes.
- Religious Meetings, Bible Classes.
- Enlisted Men's Bible and Prayer League.
- Scriptures distributed.
- Visits to sick.
- Sunday Schools.
- Clean Living Campaigns.
- Personal Interviews.
- Secretaries write letters for those unable themselves to write.

From a dug-out in France, Y. M. C. A. officials in this country have received a story that they regard as a confirmation of the need which they hope to supply through their working units on the various fronts.

A British "Tommie," sitting with messmates in one of the Triangle huts at the front, told the story of himself and his mother. It had to do with the final good-bye which he took of his mother, before leaving his home in London. After he had bade farewell to the other members of his family, his mother took him to her bed room where they could be alone, and putting both hands on his shoulders, looked squarely into his face.

"Son," she said, "it is no use my pretending that it does not break my heart to see you go. I know the long night of waiting and anxiety that lies ahead of me—wondering, praying, hoping. But it is not sharp or gas that I am most afraid of. I am a British mother, and if you go that way, I shall know how to hear it. I shall know what to tell my heart if they bring me the word: 'Your son lies in the service of his country.' But there are other things than sharp and gas at the front—other and more deadly things more deadly to you and to your mother's heart."

"I brought you here to my own room—the room where you have kissed me good night every night for twenty years—to ask you if when you have come home to us again you will kiss your mother with as clean a heart as you will kiss her tonight. That is what will be on my heart while you are away, and that is what I want you to remember as the last word I had to say to you."

Y. M. C. A. officials in America, in the faith that mother is a fairly typical one, are planning their war work with just that need in mind. "American mothers," said Fletcher S. Brockman, assistant to John R. Mott, in the direction of the war work, "are not asking whether their sons will come back so much as how they will come back. We mean that they shall come back clean, and all our endeavor shall be directed to that end."

It has been the experience of the war at the front that the morale and the morale of the men are apt to be impaired by various evil influences unless positive substitutes for these influences are set in motion. The Y. M. C. A. working units at the front have operated on the theory that healthy sports and pastimes will satisfy the need which frequently, in their absence, lead the men to seek less desirable methods of recreation. How precisely correct this theory is may be learned from the accounts received by officers who have witnessed the process. It means a happier and a healthful unit of fighting men, and that means a surer and less readily impaired morale.

Games, social intercourse, religious services and humane ministrations of all kinds, have taken the place of evil influences and doubtful adventures in all these camps where the Y. M. C. A. has been able to establish working units, according to the reports on morale made by the officers on the various fronts. This Y. M. C. A. War Work Council means to extend its operations until no single fighting unit shall be without the service which the Y. M. C. A. unit can render. It is determined in the words of Mr. Brockman, to be able to tell every American mother—and every mother in the countries of the Allies—that her son will not be preyed upon by the enemies of his soul, while he is fighting the enemies of his country. If he is permitted to come back at all, say they, he will come back sound and clean as when he left.

A nation-wide campaign to provide funds for the Y. M. C. A. work for our soldiers will be made the week of November 11-19. Our community has a local War-Work Council which will organize our campaign and it is expected that our quota will be cheerfully given.

SWIFTLY THE MESSENGER OF DEATH CAME

GERGEANT CHAS. BEVINS.
Chas. Bevins, son of Wm. Bevins of Louisa, is now a sergeant at Camp Taylor. He was in Louisa last Sunday and made a brief talk at each of the churches in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. work, which he regards the most important thing being done by civilians. Mr. Bevins has been a teacher in our country. He went to the army with the 70 who left Louisa early in October.

GUS MUNCY THE LATEST TIM OF THE SUDDEN CALL.

Gus Muncy, a well known citizen living in Shifty Valley, about three miles from Louisa, died very suddenly Wednesday night. He had been in town that evening and was heard to complain of suffering from rheumatism about the shoulders and chest. There also had been indications of heart trouble at times during the last few months.

Mr. Muncy was about 60 years old. He leaves a wife, a grown son and daughter, and some younger children. The son is at Camp Zachary Taylor, having gone with the 78 selectees. Deceased was a son of Wade H. Muncy and a brother of Rev. W. H. Muncy, now serving as pastor of one of the M. E. Churches in Ashland.

This is another of a remarkable number of events happening in this section of country lately, proving the uncertainty of life and the certainty of death, as well as the suddenness with which the messenger acts.

RIFFE-COPELY.

Mr. Paul Copley of Ashland and Miss Georgia Riffe of East Fork, this county, drove by automobile to Louisa last Friday morning. About half past one that afternoon they were united in marriage by the Rev. H. B. Hewlett of the M. E. Church South officiating. The wedding took place in the apartments of Mrs. E. Lockwood, an aunt of the bride, in the presence of a few friends among whom were Mr. Pearley Copley of Ashland, Miss Clifford Wilson and Mr. Aden See.

The bride was lovely in a suit of blue tulle and carried a bouquet of beautiful white chrysanthemums. She is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Riffe. She is an attractive young woman and is much admired. It was when attending school in Louisa she met Mr. Copley. He is the oldest son of Rev. and Mrs. L. M. Copley, who moved from this city to Ashland some time ago. He is a young man of excellent habits and holds a position with the Kentucky Solvay company in Ashland.

DEATH ACCIDENTAL.

Following an inquest in the case of Dennis Deskins 17 years old, son of W. M. Deskins of Bordeland, W. Va., Coroner Bauer said yesterday the evidence introduced showed no reason for changing his original verdict of accidental death.

Deskins died at Bethesda hospital October 7 as a result of injuries sustained October 4 when at Ohio Military Institute, College Hill, where he was a student. The young man was hit with a brick thrown by Alvin Ferguson, another student, whose home is at Columbus, Ohio. Dr. Bauer said the evidence indicated plainly that young Ferguson did not intend to injure Deskins when he threw the brick.

OIL WELL AT CHARLEY.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTOR IN RED CROSS WORK

MRS. BAYLESS TO CONDUCT PUBLIC MEETING IN LOUISA FRIDAY NIGHT.

Mrs. Bayless, Red Cross worker, has asked for a public meeting at Louisa Friday night November 16, when she will give full information as to the work to be done. She will give details of the knitting requirements, etc., and especially desires the presence of all the ladies of Louisa.

Chairman R. L. Vinson has therefor called a meeting for seven o'clock at the M. E. Church South. Everybody is invited. This is a good chance to learn all about this great work. Do not permit your name to get on the absent list. Mrs. Bayless will arrive at six ten p. m.

RED CROSS SUPPER.

For the benefit of the Red Cross work there will be an supper in the basement of the M. E. Church South on Friday, the 23rd from 4:30 to 6:30 p. m. This is a cause which everybody should help. It is practical war work. Do your bit!

LAWRENCE COUNTY RED CROSS

Interest in the work of the American Red Cross is increasing. Eight new members were secured last Saturday and one old for the organization of an Auxiliary. The following letter has been sent to the teachers of the county with the purpose of following up any response or interest that may be aroused.

Dear Teachers:—Our soldiers are being killed, wounded and captured. This is only the beginning. Thousands more will be sent to France and we must expect to lose many men. There is but one organization authorized to care for the wounded, sick and dying at the battle front and the dependants of our soldiers at home. This is the American Red Cross.

On the recommendation of Prof. Dock Jordan we are writing to you. He says and we agree with him, "If the people of Lawrence county knew the need, we could enroll 5000 members."

Those who know the conditions best say the war will last a long time. A recent report from the Base Line Hospitals and battle front can be put in ten brief statements:

1. Lack of food.
2. Lack of medical supplies.
3. Lack of nursing and medical care.
4. Lack of shelter and warmth.
5. Lack of clothing and footwear.
6. Lack of sanitation and hygiene.
7. Lack of rest and recreation.
8. Lack of spiritual comfort.
9. Lack of information.
10. Lack of organization.

Think what it means when all our boys get there. Membership in the Red Cross means much. If you are not a member, will you join and secure members? The annual fee is $1.00. For $2.00 a year's subscription to the Red Cross Magazine is included. We enclose the proper blank. The undersigned will be glad to answer any question regarding the work of the Red Cross.

Yours for service,
A. C. BOSTWICK,
Secretary Lawrence County Chapter.

The recent work of the American Red Cross in France is partly summarized in the following statements:

- 1. 520,000 francs to needy, sick and wounded soldiers and families of soldiers.
- 2. 20 Dispensaries in the American army zone.
- 3. Hospital distributing service supplies, 3,173 French military hospitals and surgical dressing service supplies.
- 4. 2000 French hospitals $0.01 net line canisters.
- 5. Canteens at railway centers serve 30,000 soldiers a day.
- 6. An artificial limb factory at Paris.
- 7. A four-part movable hospital.
- 8. Children's refuge and hospital.
- 9. Traveling dispensary for children.
- 10. Infant welfare stations.
- 11. A tuberculosis sanatorium near Paris.
- 12. Food, clothing, beds and employment for refugee families.
- 13. A large central warehouse at Paris where 200 tons of supplies arrive daily. Estimated cost for the next 6 months $400,000.

Only by our quick response will our workers in France be able to meet the critical situation during the winter months.

TROOP TRAIN IS WRECKED IN WEST

PIE MITE AT BUSSEYVILLE.

There will be a pie mite at the Busseyville school house Saturday night November 17 for the benefit of the school. Your presence will be greatly appreciated.

THE SCHOOL.

WOULD BE SERGEANT-AT-ARMS.

Lern P. F. Webb of Thornton, a son of ex-Representative John S. Webb, of Whitesburg, announced his candidacy for Sergeant-at-Arms of the next General Assembly. Young Webb was a page at the last two sessions.

MRS. SARAH LAYNE HAS PASSED AWAY

DEATH OF ONE OF OUR OLDEST CITIZENS AT AGE EIGHTY-SIX.

The sufferings of Mrs. Sarah Layne came to an end Tuesday morning of this week at the Wallace place known as Highland Home, two miles west of Louisa. She was 86 years old and had been helpless for six or seven years. On Monday evening she became worse and died at 2 a. m.

The funeral took place at the home on Wednesday at one o'clock p. m. Interment was made in Pine Hill cemetery, by the side of her only daughter, Mrs. Josephine Wallace Spencer. The services were conducted by Rev. H. O. Chambers, pastor of the Louisa M. E. Church South. Quite a number of people from Louisa attended the funeral.

Mrs. Layne is survived by the following grandchildren: L. T. D. Wallace, Jr., Miss Matilda Wallace, Mrs. J. U. Joliff and L. E. Wallace. She had been a member of the M. E. Church South for many years. Her interest in the affairs of the church and the community continued through all the years of her physical disability and her mind was alert to the last. She had lived in Louisa and vicinity through the greater part of her long life, loved by her family and respected by the community. Her death removes one of our oldest persons. She suffered greatly from rheumatism during recent years.

BUCHANAN GIRL MARRIES IN IRONTON

Miss Erie Katherine West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. West of Buchanan and Mr. Duard Cecil of Catlettsburg, were married November 6 in Ironton, Ohio. They were accompanied by Chas. Kinney, of Buchanan and Miss Wellman of Catlettsburg. The bride wore a becoming suit of blue. They returned to Ashland where they will reside. The groom is employed at the Norton Iron Works.

CAPTAIN CAM LAYNE NOW AT CAMP SHERMAN

Dr. P. C. Layne of Ashland, now a captain in the U. S. Army, has been transferred from Ft. Benjamin Harrison to Camp Sherman at Chillicothe, Ohio, and placed in charge of the surgery of the base hospital there.

KENTUCKY TO GET MONEY FOR SCHOOLS

Kentucky and West Virginia are among the fourteen states which have been added to the list qualified under the vocational educational act to receive Federal funds for the salaries of teachers and for teacher-training activities.

ONE BOX OF CANDY—$117.

Flemingsburg, November 5.—At an oyster supper held Saturday night at Flemingsburg, in this county, by the Knights of Pythias, a pound box of candy was auctioned off, with the understanding that it was to be presented to the prettiest girl in the audience. County Judge C. W. Fulton, who acted as the auctioneer, knocked it off to Miss Mary Wood Thomas. The proceeds were donated to the war fund of the Knights of Pythias.

A LOUISA SOLDIER WRITES FROM FRANCE

LUKE MCGUIRE SENDS US A LETTER FROM THE BATTLE FRONT.

October 15, 1917.
In Field Service, France.

Dear Sir:—I take this method of letting my friends at Louisa hear a word from one of the Louisa boys who is doing his bit in this great war. I say it to you as I am here and can see it. At the reading I did at home I hardly knew that war was on, but when I landed in England and as we marched through London I saw so many mothers and sisters in mourning. But it seemed to put new life in them when the U. S. boys marched through and King George stood in salute at Buckingham Palace to our boys and flag.

This is a fine country but the farms are badly damaged with trenches, holes and places where villages used to be and a pile of wreckage. I see lots of air battles and so to sleep by the music of the big guns at night which never ceases. Our deadliest enemy is gas. I have two gas masks. Work with one by day and sleep with one at night before they find out what to do thousands lost their lives by gas. I wear a steel helmet that a ball has to hit center before it will penetrate or reach the head.

I am now in a "hut" very nicely fixed for the winter, but nothing like home, and when the people at home are eating turkey for Christmas I will be satisfied with my hard luck and bully beef. But we are doing very well at that. If the people could see as we see over here there would have been no draft in our country, the ruin as the Germans pressed in awful besides other things I can not mention as censor is very hard and God only knows when this great slaughter is over, so let us do our best no matter what comes, for the more I see of war the more I am convinced of the fundamental decency of our own people they may have a crude taste in music and art and things of that sort they may lack the patient industry of the Boche but for sheer readiness of heart, for kindness to a unfortunate things like prisoners wounded animals and ugly women, they fairly beat the band now. It is getting dark and no lights allowed after sundown, for the sun guns can fly over and see you, so we watch that very closely. With best wishes to you, your paper and my kinmen and friends, I am sincerely yours

THE WOMEN HAVE ORGANIZED.

A Woman's Unit of the National Defense was organized at the Christian church Monday night, with Miss Maude Smith at its head and Miss Sue Bromley secretary. This was done at the request of the U. S. government to be ready for any work they may be called upon to do. There was a good attendance.

TEDDY CONGRATULATES LETCHER'S NEW JAILER

Fess Whitaker, newly-elected Jailer of Letcher-co., boasts of a bit of interesting history. During the Spanish American War he went alongside Col. Theodore Roosevelt up San Juan Hill under a fire of shot and shell. He claims to have worked in more towns, all the way from California to Eastport, Me., than any other man, having twice toured the country. Upon his recent nomination Col. Roosevelt wired Whitaker congratulations.

NATIONAL DEFENSE DAY AT LOUISA

PATRIOTIC GATHERING HERE LAST SATURDAY WAS A BIG SUCCESS.

The patriotic rally staged in Louisa last Saturday by the National Defense Committee was a huge success. The ideal weather made it possible for a horde of people to come in from the country and enjoy the day.

There was a parade in the morning led by an Ashland band. At its close the court house was packed to its capacity to hear Mr. K. L. Varney, the U. S. Agricultural Agent, whose territory as supervisor has been extended to include the entire Big Sandy valley. He made an excellent address, urging the people to do their part in the war by producing more food products. He is authorized to put a first class county agent in Lawrence county on a more liberal basis than ever before and the offer should be accepted. Another advantage of the new arrangement will be the supervision which the work will receive from Mr. Varney, one of the most successful men in the service. Heretofore we have had no supervision.

At 12:30 the crowds proceeded to the auditorium of the Kentucky Normal College and in a short time that large hall was completely filled with many persons standing and scores more turned away.

Judge Flen D. Sampson, of the Court of Appeals, spoke first. He was introduced by W. D. O'Neal in a brief and appropriate way. Judge Sampson made a fine speech, full of patriotism and broad views of the awful situation in which the world finds itself just now. He was liberally applauded by the large audience.

At the conclusion of Judge Sampson's address, Hon. R. C. McClure came to the front of the stage and in an eloquent address introduced Gov. A. C. Stanley. The Governor entered at once upon a presentation of facts covering the world war with particular reference to this country's duty and part in it. If there were any present who had believed we could have kept out of the war or should have kept out, they certainly could not maintain that opinion after hearing the Governor's summing up of the facts now so well known in official circles and to a great extent by the world at large. His speech was pronounced by the hearers to be one of the best they had ever heard.

It was a great day for the cause and the hundreds of persons who gathered here went to their homes with a better conception of the situation and of their duty than they have ever had. The difficulty we are having is to realize that we are at war and that every home has a great deal at stake. We must all help in some way. Those who can not go can send. Never miss an opportunity to give something to the Y. M. C. A., the Red Cross, and all other great organizations in the war work. Governor Stanley and Judge Sampson arrived here at 5 a. m. and left at 6:10 p. m.

LIEUTENANT GARRED IS SAFE IN FRANCE

Lieutenant Alex Garred of the construction department of the aviation corps of the U. S. Army has reached France in safety. A telegram to this effect was received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Garred of Huntington Monday. Lieutenant Garred had been in business in Cincinnati for several years before he enlisted a few weeks ago. He was the second member of the Garred family to enter the service, his brother, Vinson, having joined the navy a number of months ago.

BOY DIES FROM INJURIES.

Whitesburg, Ky., November 12.—William Campbell a 12-year-old school boy, of Lavers, died at the Fleming hospital this morning from injuries received when he was run over by an L. & N. coal train, near Kora Station. The boy lost both legs. Witnesses to the accident say young Campbell was leaving the railroad track and running up the embankment when he missed his footing and slipped under the wheels. He was an inmate of an orphan's home in Cleveland, O., coming to Lavers some days ago on a visit.

CLEANSES YOUR HAIR MAKES IT BEAUTIFUL, THICK, GLOSSY, WAVY

TRY THIS! ALL DANDRUFF DIS-
APPEARS AND HAIR STOPS COMING OUT.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance.

Besides benefiting the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair and lots of it. If you will spend a few cents for a small bottle of Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

Gen. Foch, a member of the Inter-Allied War Council, will remain in Italy and play a prominent part in the direction of operations against the German invaders according to the Paris Matin. The same authority asserts that the original Italian intention to halt at the Piave River has been abandoned and that battle will be offered at the Altopiano. This plan has the approval of Gen. Foch.

The roof is the last to go on your building; but the selection of an efficient and economical roof is of first importance. If you will use on your building you will get the most efficient roof, and will cut down the cost of the roof materially.

CERTAIN-TEED Roofing is economical to buy, inexpensive to lay, and it costs practically nothing to maintain. It is weathertight, fire retardant, clean, sanitary, and gives the utmost roofing service over a period of years. CERTAIN-TEED is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply).

The quality and merit of CERTAIN-TEED have made it the preferable type of roofing for office buildings, hotels, factories, stores, warehouses, garages, farm buildings, etc. If you are building it will be to your interest to investigate CERTAIN-TEED.

There are many roll roofings, but only one CERTAIN-TEED. As it costs no more to lay a CERTAIN-TEED Roof than it does to lay a poor roof, it will pay to get the best, and save on renewals and upkeep. You can't tell the quality of roll roofing by its appearance, or by feeling of it; your only safety is in the label. Be sure it is CERTAIN-TEED.

Certain-teed Slate-Surfaced Asphalt Shingles are supplanting wood and slate shingles for residences. They cost less, are just as good looking, wear better, won't fall off, buckle or split. They are fire retardant, and do not have to be painted or stained.

Certain-teed Paints and Varnishes are made of the best quality materials and mixed by modern machinery to insure uniformity. Made for all uses and in all colors and sizes. Any dealer can get them for you. With paint and varnish, as with roofing, the name CERTAIN-TEED is a guarantee of quality and satisfaction.

STAMPED WITH STARS AND STRIPES AND RED TRIANGLE

Multifarious Ways in Which the Association Appeals to Your Boy, Your Neighbor's Boy, or Some Boy You Know and Love—Creates a Helpful Environment in Cantonment, on Way Overseas, in Front Line Trench and Beyond—First to Aid as He Comes Tottering Back—Give Your Share of the $35,000,000 Required to Accomplish This "Last Evidence That Somebody Cares."

It was evening on the broad, flat landscape of the Hempstead Plain, Long Island, where the Rainbow division was spending its last night before embarking for France. It had been raining hard in the afternoon—a cold, steady autumn downpour—and there was nothing to suggest the rainbow in the outward aspect of the camp. Lines and lines of sodden canvas housed 27,000 men, gathered from 27 different states. The ground was dotted with pools and quagmires. Under the wet canvas it was damp and cold, with a penetrating chill. Lit by flickering candles, the tents were far from cheerful shelter for a man's last night in his native land.

But there were seven big tents where electric lights, numbers and friendliness made the night pleasant. Each one of our 16 cantonments, where the new national army is being trained, is using more than a million sheets of this paper every month. In the draft army alone that means 16,000,000 shipments of love every month reaching out from the great encampment where the men are being trained into the greatest army this nation has ever dreamed and binding them to the hearts at home. Multiply that by thinking of all the other places where Uncle Sam has men with the flag—in navy yards, on the high seas, in arsenals and officers' training camps and "Over There" in France. In all these places men are writing home. Those unassuming little sheets of notepaper gladden millions of hearts a day. They transfer more love from one

Music, games, good reading and correspondence facilities in Y. M. C. A. Building.

In each of these a soldier was strumming on a piano; others were reading books and magazines; hundreds were writing letters home. Behind the raised counter at one end three or four young men were busy passing out notepaper and envelopes, selling stamps and weighing parcels, which the men were sending home. One of the soldiers said to me as I stood in the tent used chiefly by men from Iowa: "We came all the way here from Des Moines, and we were mighty lonely. Then we found this Y. M. C. A. on the job, and it's been a home and more than a home to us. It gave us what we wanted when we needed it most. We'll never forget it. The boys' best friend is the Y. M. C. A."

How close those benches were packed with men, bending over the long tables absorbed in their writing! What an appeal to the sympathies those great groups of soldiers make! Fine, clean-cut, upstanding fellows. Some of them mere boys, one thinks immediately of the sacrifice they have made for the rest of us and how precious they are to some one back home. Somewhere, in far off farm or village or city street, there are parents or brothers or wives who would give all they possess for one glimpse of those unburned faces as you and I see them on their last night before going across. And it was with a throb of the heart that I watched them, bent over their letter paper, in one after another of those seven big tents.

These were the tents of the Y. M. C. A. On that last night in America the association was serving the soldiers in the best of all ways—giving them an opportunity to write home. On previous nights they had enjoyed boxing bouts, movies, concerts, dramatics and a score of healthy entertainments as well as religious meetings. But on this last night home ties were strongest. And perhaps that is the keynote of the splendid work the Y. M. C. A. is doing among our men in uniform—keeping them in touch with home.

Magic Words, "With the Colors"

In those times there are some letters that mean more to us than any we have ever read before. They are written on sheets of paper stamped with the Stars and Stripes and the red triangle of the Y. M. C. A. and they bear the magic words, "With the Colors." There are many more than a million such letters in the mails today while you read this. Perhaps one at least is on its way to you. Each one of our 16 cantonments, where the new national army is being trained, is using more than a million sheets of this paper every month. In the draft army alone that means 16,000,000 shipments of love every month reaching out from the great encampment where the men are being trained into the greatest army this nation has ever dreamed and binding them to the hearts at home. Multiply that by thinking of all the other places where Uncle Sam has men with the flag—in navy yards, on the high seas, in arsenals and officers' training camps and "Over There" in France. World's Best Loved Trademark.

This war has made us think hard and fast. Your boy or your neighbor's boy or some boy you know and love has been called to do his share in the big job of policing the world for democracy and human liberty. Is it any comfort to you to know that wherever his duty may call him your boy will have a friend that will serve him in body, mind and soul? Are you glad to know that this friend will place books and magazines at his disposal, organize classes to teach him what ever he wants to learn, give him a pocket testament and invite him to join religious meetings of the faith that he was brought up in? Did you realize that the association provides athletic equipment for his favorite games, teaches him games if he knows none and holds concerts, lectures, movies, Bible classes, dramatic entertainments and every kind of wholesome amusement to keep him interested? Are you glad to know that this friend will go with him overseas, help to shield him from a score of difficult and dangerous temptations and follow him right up to the front line trench and beyond it? The last contact the soldier has with this life he loves so well is a cup of tea given him by the Y. M. C. A. free just before he goes "over the top" to a band to hand struggle with the enemy. And as he comes tottering back from No Man's Land, wounded, but strong enough and plucky enough to keep on his feet, even before his wounds are dressed the Y. M. C. A. is waiting for him with tea and sweet chocolate, the great comforts of the man in the trenches. Do you wonder that the Red Triangle is called "the best loved trademark in the world?" One soldier in France has called it "the last evidence that anybody cares."

If every thinking citizen could see with his or her own eyes something of the actual work being done for our men by the association there would be no question of the Y. M. C. A. having to appeal to the public for money. Rather than let this essential work stop for an instant rich men would sell their motorcars, poor men would forego coveted possessions or even necessities. The work must go on, because there is no one thing that contributes so much to the spirit and efficiency of the troops. The Y. M. C. A. is working night and day to help the government win this war. And every penny that is given to aid the work is a direct assistance to the health, happiness and strength of your boy and mine.

Snapshots of Kaleidoscopic Work.

In all the big cities in France where our men pass through in large numbers, the Y. M. C. A. is operating hostels, where they can get beds and meals at a minimum cost. In London the American Y. M. C. A. has erected a large building for our soldiers and a clubhouse for American officers.

There are Y. M. C. A. dugouts right behind the front line trenches, where the soldiers can get hot drinks, crackers and other comforts at all hours.

Over 2,000 men who had been rejected on account of physical disability have been able to get into the British army by reason of the physical work of the British Y. M. C. A.

A fleet of motor cars leaves the big Y. M. C. A. headquarters in London at midnight every night to pick up soldiers who are wandering about the streets without any wholesome lodging in which to spend the night. These cars are operated by Englishwomen of position and refinement, who report that they never meet any discourtesy at the hands of the soldiers. The importance of this service can be estimated by the fact that at least 50,000 soldiers are on leave in London every week. Over half of these sleep in Y. M. C. A. beds every night.

Entertainment on Vast Scale.

The Y. M. C. A. has erected a big auditorium, seating 3,000, in each of the big draft camps, and huge chautauqua tents, seating 2,500 in the other encampments. The association is running a 22 week entertainment circuit among the camps and is paying 16 companies of entertainers, who are travelling to 30 camps performing before the men.

In each of the draft camps the Y. M. C. A. has ten secretaries engaged in educational work. The association is seeing to it that every man who cannot speak English is taught to do so. In many of the camps the association has a singing director, who is teaching the men to sing the popular and martial airs that do so much to keep up their spirits.

Of 64 Y. M. C. A. men at Camp Dix only three are being paid full salaries. In all the camps the majority of the Y. M. C. A. men have left lucrative positions to do this work simply because its appeal is irresistible to any red blooded man. Harry Lauder, the famous Scotch singer and comedian, now on his farewell concert tour in the United States, is giving all his spare time to the service of the association and is singing to the soldiers at all the camps he can reach.

In one of the draft camps the Y. M. C. A. is supervising athletics on 120 playing fields, providing full athletic equipment. The winners of the inter-regimental games will play the champions of the other camps.

One of the greatest services rendered by the association is the making out of money orders by which the men can send their pay home to their families. In some of the big camps the Y. M. C. A. is providing banking facilities for the men as well.

Do Your Bit With a Tenner.

This month (November) the Y. M. C. A. must raise $35,000,000 to carry on its work among our soldiers and their allies until next July. Of this $35,000,000 about $24,000,000 will be spent on the work with our own troops or about $10 for every man in Uncle Sam's uniform. If everybody who has received letters from soldiers and sailors were to contribute $10 the task would be easy. Are your boy's health and happiness and clean soul worth $10 to you?

Your town mayor, your pastor, your school superintendent will know who is the treasurer of the campaign committee in your county or town. Otherwise send a check or money order to Cleveland H. Dodge, treasurer, 124 East Twenty-eighth street, New York City.

Only sacrificial giving by millions of givers will make possible the continuance of this vast work for American soldiers and for those of our allies.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

A Bit Of Human Interest

One member of the National Army from this section happened to be brought up without any home ties. Both his father and mother died when he was young. He "worked out." He accepted jobs that were open to him and did the best that he could under the circumstances.

This particular young man is now in a National Army cantonment in training for a soldier.

And here is a letter that has been received by one of his friends here:

"Things are going pretty well here. But I am awfully homesick. None of the other boys seems to be as homesick as I am. I cannot figure out why it is."

Something to ponder over, Mr. Citizen, who had the help and comradeship of a father and mother! Here is a man who grew up as did Tony, a home of his own to give him pleasure and comfort. No mother to help him in times of trouble. No father to talk over his problems with. No sister to cheer him up. No friends to sit around at night. No family circle.

And still he says that he is about the only man in his particular group at the army cantonment who is homesick.

Just think it over. It might help you to appreciate the benefits that you have. It might help you to appreciate your good mother. You might learn to look at father in a different manner. Perhaps sister's sphere in your existence will be changed. Perhaps you will more appreciate that fireplace and the family circle and the family friends.

Showing Willingness At Home.

Love shows itself in our willingness to do little or big things that we please our loved ones. A man may not care for violets, but he shows his love for his wife if he will for her sake go down on his knees in the grass and gather a bunch just for her. He may not care to go to church, but if his wife and children want him to go, he could show his love for them by going with them. He may think that they ought to know he loves them dearly, because every day of his life he is working for them.

But his love is not all that it might be until it leads him to do the things that are especially pleasing to his family. Numerous cares, deep thought, an absorbing life work, a crowded day free from the duty of showing his love at home in ways which are wholly of his wife's or his children's choosing.

Love Lightens Labor.

A good wife rose from her bed one morn.

And thought with a nervous dread Of the piles of clothes to be washed and more.

Than a dozen mouths to be fed. There's the means to get for the man in the field.

And the children to fix away

To school, and the milk to be skimed and churned.

And all to be done this day.

It had rained in the night, and all the wood

Was wet as it could be; There were puddings and pies to bake besides.

A loaf of cake for ten. And the day was hot and her neckling head.

Throbbled wearily as she said: "If madness but knew what good wives know."

They would not be in haste wed."

"Jennie, what do you think I told Bert Brown?"

"Called the farmer from the well; And a flush crept up to his bronzed brow."

And his eyes half bashfully fell; "It was this," he said, and coring near.

He smiled, and stooping down, Kissed her cheek—"I was this, that you were the best."

And the dearest wife in town."

The farmer went back to the field and the wife

In a smiling, absent way Sang snatches of tender little songs.

She'd not sung for many a day. And the pain in her head was gone, and the clothes

Were white as the foam of the sea; Her bread was light, and her butter was sweet.

And as golden as it could be.

"Just think," the children all called in a breath.

"Tom Wood has run off to sea! He wouldn't, I know, if he'd only had As happy a home as we."

The night came down, and the good wife smiled

To herself, and softly said: "Tis so sweet to labor for those who love."

It's not so strange that maids will wed!"

If my boy should leave school with his head full of history and grammar and the classics and modern languages and all the other studies of the curriculum and yet should not have in his heart to yield a willing obedience to laws the law of the school, the law of the community in which he lives, the law of the state and nation—we should feel that his time had been thrown away. We need in all our schools authority, for these boys of today are the citizens of tomorrow and everywhere throughout the length and breadth of the land we must have more, prompt and willing obedience to law.

If we can put one touch of rowy sunset into the life of any man or woman, we shall feel that we have worked with God.

A smile of appreciation is worth more than a volume of well rounded sentences of praise—society prattle is cheap, but heart friendship is a rare plant of slow growth. Happy are they who can rear a few.

EAT BIG MEALS! NO SOUR, ACID STOMACH, INDIGESTION OR GAS

"PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN" IS QUICK! EST. SUREST STOMACH RELIEF KNOWN—TRY IT!

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will sweeten a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is usually a sign of acidity of the stomach.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of indigestible food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches or dizziness.

This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin helps to neutralize the excessive acid in the stomach which is causing the food fermentation and preventing proper digestion.

Relief in five minutes is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to usually keep the entire family free from stomach acidity and its symptoms of indigestion, dyspepsia, sourness, gases, heartburn, and headache for many months. It belongs in your home.

NEWS OF THE WORLD

FRIDAY.

After undergoing a four-hour bombardment from guns of the cruiser Aurora and Sts. Peter and Paul Fort, members of the Russian provisional Government who had taken their stand in the Winter Palace capitulated to the extreme radicals and the Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates now are in control of the Russian capital.

Premier Kerensky has fled and reports say he is either at the front or in Moscow. Several of his Ministers have been arrested. The Congress of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates has convened in Petrograd and has named a committee to initiate peace negotiations.

Gen. Hale has taken steps to see that every soldier at Camp Zachary Taylor is supplied with a complete uniform. Sufficient supplies have been received to do this and surplus equipment issued will be recalled and released. To aid in the Y. M. C. A. campaign to raise $35,000,000 for war work, 50 soldiers have been detailed to make speeches in their home towns. Soldiers in the infantry school of arms are making rapid progress and to-day will practice with grenades filled with black powder.

The American commissioners, headed by Col. Edward M. House, President Wilson's personal friend and adviser, were received by high British officials in London yesterday. Col. House lunched with Mr. Balfour, and conferences of various sorts were arranged for. The Colonel refused to comment on the latest news from Russia. With others of the commission he soon will leave for France.

The Italian army continues its retreat across the Venetian plain, with the larger units unopposed. Reports. There has been considerable fighting in the north among the hills of Vittorio. Berlin claims the capture of 17,000 prisoners along the middle Tagliamento, and says the booty in guns is over 2,300. On the western front only artillery duels and raiding operations are in progress.

A considerable amount of coal has been released for distribution at the direction of the Fuel Administration through an order allowing jobbers a 15 per cent margin of profit over the contract price. Previous regulations had ordered that jobbers take only a small profit over Government prices irrespective of the cost of the coal.

The dealer had held the fuel rather than sell below cost.

SUNDAY.

Regulations for the second draft have been put into effect by the President and work of preparing for the call which is anticipated in February has begun. The scheme provides for the division into five classes in order of eligibility all the remaining 9,000,000 men who registered. To each of these registrants a list of questions will be submitted giving all information as to his fitness and these will be classified when returned to the local boards. It is estimated that it will require three months to complete the classification.

President Wilson has issued a foreword to the new draft regulations, and Provost Marshal General Crowder a supplementary explanatory statement.

Germany shows signs of continuing her aggressive moves in Northern Russian waters. Following upon advice that German troops had landed on the Oland Island off the Gulf of Bothnia between Finland and Sweden, came a report from Stockholm that German forces had entered Helsingfors, capital of Finland. This move is considered as probably having both political and military objects, the former in taking advantage of Finnish dissent and desire for independence from Russia and the latter in the threat that is presented of interference with communications with Russia from the west through Finland and Sweden.

Ship workers engaged on government contracts will be exempted from service in the National Army, according to a statement by the Provost Marshal General. Lists of men liable will be made up by the yards and they will be excused. The exemption ends when the man ceases to be employed on ship construction and listed as needed by the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

Francisco Villa is assembling troops for an attack Monday on Ojinaga, according to three ranches who escaped from the Mexicans and fled across the border.

British forces in Palestine are continuing their northward march following up the retreating Turks. They have now advanced nearly twenty miles in the coast region since their capture of Gaza recently, and have nearly attained the latitude of Jerusalem. That city is more than forty miles inland, however, and the interior British column, moving from Beersehbah, apparently has made less rapid progress than the coastal force. The British have taken more than seventy guns and inflicted estimated casualties of 10,000 upon the Turks, exclusive of prisoners.

Holding of the National Army in camp in the United States for the next six months is a possibility, as it may be found that the Allies' needs of food and materials are more pressing than for men. Decision will probably rest on the reports submitted by the mission now in Europe. Holding of the first army might delay the second draft but it would not be necessary to wait until the circumstances have been emptied, as their capacity is greatly in excess of the troops stationed there now.

Details of the plans of Sinn Fein leaders for the Irish revolt which culminated in the outbreak on Easter Monday of last year are contained in papers seized when "Gen." Liam Mellows was arrested and made public by William J. Flynn, chief of the United States secret service. Another unsigned communication indicated that another revolt was planned and gave valuable information regarding American ramifications of the plots of Irish revolutionists.

Speaking under a heavy guard of police Prof. Scott Nearing, a pacifist, spoke in Chicago in the interests of the People's Council for Democracy and Terms of Peace. Membership cards which he offered for sale at $3 each found only a single purchaser. Although watchful, no action was taken by the police, but every word of Nearing's speech was recorded by a police stenographer.

In Flanders the British have won another decided success in enlarging the salient in the Passchendaele region. Attacking early Saturday on a 2,200-yard front, they pushed forward along the ridge and in the marshy district to the northwest to a maximum depth of about half a mile, capturing many strongly-fortified positions in brilliant style.

The German army during the last two weeks has driven the Italian forces far back into Italy and captured many of them; but the latest reports indicate that the drive has probably reached its limit, as the Italians are now successfully resisting them. France and England have sent reinforcements.

Brest had another revolution and Kerensky escaped in an ambulance. In a few days he returned to Petrograd at the head of a large force of troops and the latest reports say he has defeated the revolutionists and is again in charge. The leaders in the uprising were anarchists and German agents.

BOARDS GET COPIES OF DRAFT RULES NEXT WEEK

Washington, Nov. 13.—Copies of the new army draft regulations came off the press Monday for a final reading preparatory to issuing to the local exemption boards throughout the country. They will be in the hands of all boards next week to govern all future drafts.

Under the new plan the burden of supplying information which will result in his being placed in his proper classification, under the selective service law rests squarely upon the individual registrant. All instructions now in the hands of the boards will be annulled upon the receipt of the new regulations, which are greatly reduced in extent and simplified in process.

WEST VIRGINIAN SLAYS FIRST GERMAN SOLDIER

Bluefield, W. Va., November 13.—News reached here today of the death of Lieutenant James H. Higginbotham, of this city on the battlefields of France. At the beginning of the war he joined the Australian hospital corps and was rapidly promoted, becoming a first lieutenant. In the Dardanelles campaign he was twice seriously wounded. Higginbotham's grandfather was the founder of Bluefield.

Letters from France bring the information that it was a Summers-Cox, West Va., soldier, Kenneth Caldwell, who shot and killed the first German. The victim was a mail carrier, who refused to halt when ordered by Caldwell.

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO AT TWENTY-ONE

Dr. Frank Crane, the famous editorial writer, has written an article for the December American Magazine which is called "If I Were Twenty-One." Here are ten things he says he would do if he were twenty-one. He says:

- "1. I would 'Do the Next Thing.'"
- "2. I would Adjust Myself."
- "3. I would Take Care of My Body."
- "4. I would Train My Mind."
- "5. I would Be Happy."
- "6. I would Get Married."
- "7. I would Save Money."
- "8. I would Study the Art of Pleasure."
- "9. I would Determine that I would be a Thoroughbred."
- "10. I would Make Some Permanent Amicable Arrangement with My Conscience."

ECHOES FROM FORT GAY

FORT GAY HAPPENINGS ALWAYS INTEREST OUR READERS.

After reading of so many people in our town who have been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, the question naturally arises: "Is this medicine equally successful in our neighboring towns?" The generous statement of this Fort Gay doctor leaves no room for doubt on this point.

Reynolds Frasher, physician Fort Gay, W. Va., says: "I used to take Doan's Kidney Pills quite frequently for disordered kidneys and was greatly benefited on each occasion. I haven't had any need of such a remedy now for quite a few years and I believe that Doan's Kidney Pills have permanently cured me. I still prescribe Doan's Kidney Pills, however, in my practice with the same satisfactory results and I consider them a worthy remedy."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Doctor Frasher uses and prescribes. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

EARLY HISTORY OF THE BRUTAL KAISER

FIENDISH EFFORTS TO PUT HIS FATHER OUT OF HIS PATH. WAY TO THE THRONE.

Kaiser William II of Germany, the brute at the head of the German nation, has shown his inhuman traits ever since his youth. He tried to put his father out of the way so he himself would go to the throne directly after the death of his grandfather Emperor William. This occurred in 1887. The old Kaiser was then 91 years old and very feeble. His son Frederick was afflicted with a throat trouble. The present Kaiser, (Frederick's son) used this fact in an effort to get rid of his father's influence. He had an operation performed that would have killed or rendered him infirm. Once when his mother was away from home for a few hours, William called in his favorite surgeon and had an anesthetic administered to his father, and the surgeon was on the very point of operating upon Frederick when the mother returned. She furiously drove William and the surgeon out of the room and the next day took her husband to England to save him from the inevitable and murderous son and remained away until the death of the old Kaiser in 1888. Frederick was then proclaimed as Emperor, but lived only three months. The present despotic Kaiser then realized his first ambition. Bismarck was known as the "Iron Chancellor" and Germany's strongest character. William threw him out of his high office in two or three years and Bismarck proceeded to write some very important history, including a lot of things that Kaiser Bill did not want recorded. He objected to the first two volumes and Bismarck prepared the third and had it safely put away in the following account shows, in this volume he tells about William's efforts to have his father renounce the throne in his favor; and after failing in this to have him put out of the way. The following is a portion of an account published by a prominent diplomat:

In the vaults of the Bank of England where former rulers, Latin-American dictators, Oriental sultans, vassal Princes of India, and capitalists from all parts of the United States keep their choicest treasures and the funds which they have set aside for a rainy day there have been lying for some twenty years or more seven large steel-bound boxes which the Kaiser would pay dearly to possess.

There are some, indeed, who insist that his long-cherished and openly avowed project of invading England via Calais and of dictating the terms of a victorious peace on the banks of the Thames was prompted very largely by his almost insane desire to get hold of the contents of these cases while it is known that he has promised a truly imperial reward to the aviator or Zeppelin commander who succeeds in dropping his bombs in such a fashion upon London as to convert the Park of England into a great hole in the ground, a mere shell crater—and to completely obliterate the existence of the Old Lady of Threadneedle Street.

If Emperor William is so bent upon the destruction of these seven boxes in the vaults of the Bank of England it is because they contain the manuscripts of the third, the largest and the most important volume of the autobiographical memoirs of the first Prince Bismarck, as well as a wonderful collection of confidential papers and correspondence of a nature to corroborate and confirm the statements in the memoirs. They include several hundred letters written by the Kaiser to his father, and immediately subsequent to his accession, to the Iron Chancellor, reports of various intrigues at Vienna, and of plotting against the ill-fated Crown Prince Rudolf of Austria in which he was concerned, and also of memoranda in William's own handwriting relating to the final conspiracy which he organized in the Autumn of 1887 and in the early Spring of 1888 to eliminate his already then fatally stricken father from the succession to the throne.

Bismarck would have published this third volume of his memoirs during his lifetime had not the Kaiser, a really alarmed by the tone of the first two volumes, threatened him with the dire penalties that he himself had inflicted upon Count Harry von Arnim for printing official secrets in a pamphlet designed to clear himself of the charges brought against him of insubordination and misconduct while Ambassador in Paris. Arnim, who was mortally related to the Hohenzollern family, and who on the strength thereof had defied Bismarck was arrested, deprived of all his honors and sentenced to a long term of imprisonment, which he only escaped by flight to Switzerland where he spent the remainder of his days in exile.

Bismarck knew that the Kaiser must have an inkling of the contents of his remaining reminiscences, and that he might be driven by fear of the revelations which they contained to have recourse to the same extreme measures that he had adopted in 1888 with regard to the voluminous diaries of his father Emperor Frederick. The Kaiser had forcibly taken them from his widowed mother and Bismarck was determined that his third volume should not share the same fate.

So Bismarck made and, with the assistance of his son Hoyer, and of the latter's intimate friend and enemy, Lord Rosebery to smuggle the manuscript of the third volume, and his most precious papers out of the country and over to the Bank of England in London, in order to save them from seizure and destruction by the Kaiser. When the old Chancellor died Emperor William administered to the sons, Prince Herbert and Count William Bismarck the same warning about the third volume and the correspondence connected therewith that he had given to his father.

It is only recently that public attention has been drawn to the fact that these papers are still in the possession of the Bank of England and no end of pressure is being brought to bear upon the British Government to sell or publish them with the view of turning the Hapsburgs and the Austrians still more against William than is now the case, and of arousing sentiment of disgust and horror against him even in Germany.

The only thing that has caused the English Government to hesitate about their publication until now has been the objections of the governor and directors of the Bank of England. They are said to fear that in the event of the Cabinet making use of its authority to seize these documents for political purposes the confidence reposed at home and especially abroad, in the bank as a fiduciary institution would be impaired.

OUTRAGES COMMITTED BY GERMAN SOLDIERS

SWORN TESTIMONY OF THOUSANDS TELL OF AWFUL CRIMES AGAINST HELPLESS.

MARKED BY THE BEAST.

Washington, October 26.—The French government has established, by affidavit of eye-witnesses, more than two hundred thousand cases of crimes against women by German officers and soldiers in conquered French territory.

The report of the British commission, headed by James Bryce, former ambassador, which investigated the crimes of German officers and soldiers against Belgian women and girls, horrible as it is, had to be severely edited before it was fit to print. This report is not based on hearsay, but every one of the thousands of cases is proved beyond question by the sworn testimony of eye-witnesses.

This wholesale violation of the defenseless womanhood and girlhood of France and Belgium is the crowning infamy of the German nation.

It is the proud boast of every decent American man that in no country in the world is woman's honor held more sacred than in America.

No man is worthy of the high privilege of citizenship in this republic who would not defend the honor of any woman with his life.

The hundreds of thousands of French and Belgian women victims of the bestial lust of the German officers and soldiers, whether they be living or dead, are today sending this message across the seas to the men of America:

"Have you wives, mothers, daughters, sisters, sweethearts?"

"Do you love them? Is their honor their safety their happiness more to you than all else in the world—more to you than life itself?"

"In their name we ask you to look upon our violated flesh and to pity us. But we ask something more than that, your pity; we ask in the name of the chivalry of which you so proudly boast, in the name of the womanhood of the world, in the name of a just and pious Christ, to join with our fathers, husbands, sons, brothers and lovers in the heroic fight they are making, not only to avenge us, but to save the other women of the world, American women as well as French and Belgian women, from the loathsome touch of the beast."

"You men of America are far away from the hell of battle into which our men have plunged and from which many of them will never return. Most of you never will have the opportunity to atone with the sword and bayonet and gun this appeal to your courage and your chivalry."

"But there is a thing which every one of you can do—old and young, rich and poor, strong and weak. You can help with your money, whether it be much or little, to the end that we will be able to keep our pledge of faith to its allies."

"This pledge is that all that you have all that you are, is dedicated to the noblest cause for which men have ever fought and died and sacrificed their worldly goods—the cause of womanhood."

"Are you a husband? When you kiss your wife tonight think of us, the wives of France and Belgium, who have been defiled."

"Are you a son? When you look into the caressing eyes of your mother tonight think of us, the mothers of France and Belgium who have been dragged thru the mire of infamy."

"Are you a father? When your sweet pure young daughter puts your arms around your neck tonight think of us, the daughters of France and Belgium, who a few short months ago were as sweet and pure as she and who are now either mercifully dead or doomed to a living death."

"Are you a brother? When you look upon the fair face of your sister tonight think of us, the sisters of France and Belgium whose faces are no longer fair from whom the joy of life has gone forever."

"Are you a lover? When you feel tonight the thrill of love at the sight of her who is soon to be your wife think of us, the sweethearts of the men of France and Belgium who have been forced to drink the dregs of the bitterest cup that can touch a pure woman's lips."

And when you think of them, husbands, sons, fathers, brothers and lovers of America, ask yourselves this question: "Can I ever again look an honest woman in the face if I do not do the thing which I now have the chance to do to avenge the women of France and Belgium and defend the women of America—my women?"

If you would revel among the most beautiful of shade trees, the monarchs of the South, the Live Oaks, go to Ocean Springs, Mississippi. Drink from its Mineral Springs and enjoy the ozone from the stretch of shell road along the sound.

Live simply among its plain but hospitable small hotels or private boarding houses; you will never forget the view of the Gulf you have had, or the rejuvenating atmosphere that you have enjoyed during your stay.

Biloxi might be called the Riviera of the Gulf Coast. It was settled by the French in 1699. It was part of the Louisiana possessions and was the first colony planted by the French in the south.

Yes it is true that you will find there the old civilization and the new. Truthfully we may also say that it is one of the most restful, healthful and charming resorts on the North American continent.

We have found it most delightful just following the Christmas holidays in mid winter; but it is also most agreeable in the summer time, as the breezes from the Gulf of Mexico fan the shore at some time of each day.

Many legends have been centered at Biloxi, which doubtless had their origin in the time of the Indian to later civilization. A grand old oak with gnarled and twisted branches and hanging moss, stands in the churchyard of the picturesque church of the Redeemer—it has been the basis of many a legend and verse.

How beautiful are those homes along the beach where nature has been undisturbed. Beyond the narrow streets of Old Biloxi one can stroll again the shell road, pass the "home for guests" and the lighthouse and be a welcome guest also at one or more of the beautiful private villas lined along the shell road. Several of these have their own private piers with boat-house or bathing-house at the end of the pier, way out on the water. Boating, bathing and fishing are recreations that belong to the out-of-door life of Biloxi nearly all the year round.

Biloxi is not wholly dependent upon tourists. It has an all-the-year round population. A Tourist Club is sustained during the winter months from a colony largely of middle states northern people who center there yearly from mid-winter to early spring. It is an attractive adjunct to Biloxi during that time. Never has the writer seen more glorious sunsets or more beautiful moonlights. What more fascinating than the silvery sheen in the wake of a white sailboat as she silently glides along. Her hold may be filled with oysters which she may be carrying to be landed at some oyster houses a mile or so around the bend of the bay, or it may be that with shrimps from deeper waters she is laden. If you happen to be the next morning, where the boat is being unloaded you will find it a process worth seeing. Inside of a long building all is activity, men, women and children are employed by the hundreds in opening the oyster shells. The oysters are first dropped into tubs of water and the last process is when they are placed in cases which are sealed and neatly labeled and then are ready for the market.

There are homes for the workers and their families who live near the plants or oyster factories. There is also a Settlement House not far away with beautiful trees about it, with kindergarten, and playgrounds for the children, who are thus cured for while their mothers are at work at the oyster houses. The season is short and consequently the earnings are for only a short time of the year.

Again and again from the cold rigid winters of the north we shall seek the shore of Beautiful Biloxi and perhaps now and then for a respite in the summer, also.

So when you make up your route for trips South henceforth, we advise you by all means to include Biloxi or Ocean Springs—Carlyle Porter.

These are two of the popular and attractive resorts on the beautiful Gulf Coast and reached by the modern steel passenger trains of the

TONNAGE NEEDS OF ARMY ABROAD

Over 200 Ships Will Be Required
Constantly to Supply the American Force.

GREAT AREA FOR SEA BASE

Estimated That 100 Pounds of Freight
Per Man Per Day Must Be Un-
loaded at the Port of Debarkation.

CHARLES H. GRASBY,
New York Times.

London. — The American army in France will need some transporting. Here are figures that are at least approximately correct.

It is estimated that 100 pounds of freight per man per day must be unloaded at the port of debarkation. Therefore, when at the end of two years, we have, say, one million men in France, we must unload daily 100,000,000 pounds of freight, or 50,000 tons.

Three thousand tons can be unloaded daily from a good-sized ship; hence 17 ships at the wharves, each of them unloading 3,000 tons, will fill the requirements. In the United States 17 ships must be loading 50,000 tons a day. This makes a total of 34 ships at the docks. Taking as a basis a 6,000 ton (dead weight) ship, we see that 17 ships must leave New York every two days and 17 ships leave some French port every two days in transit with army freight. Assuming ten days as the time of passage, there would be 170 ships (6,000 tons) en route to and from the United States, which, added to the 34 at the docks, will make a total of 204 ships, assuming no loss or delay.

Enormous Supplies Needed.

To indicate the quantities of certain articles required, fuel for cooking for six months, on a basis of half a cord per day per hundred men, would amount to 13,500 cords. Owing to scarcity of fuel part of this may have to be brought to France.

With 1,000,000 men, there will be approximately 200,000 animals. At 14 pounds of hay a day, there would be required for six months over 450,000,000 pounds of hay, which must be imported, and also 360,000,000 pounds of oats. Rations will require 815,000,000 pounds. Ammunition will run into billions of pounds.

This freight calculation does not consider what would be required in building or rebuilding railroads or communications. The space required for store housing at the base would be about as follows: Rations, etc., 250 acres; fuel, 150 acres; forage, 450 acres; remount depots, 250 acres; cantonments for animals, etc., 800 acres; sick and wounded, 1,000 acres; engineer, ordnance, and signal corps, 1,500 acres. Allowing for roads, office buildings, barracks, etc., the total would be about 5,000 acres.

Confusion in Figures.

Always there is considerable confusion about shipping figures. There is no one on this side of the Atlantic, so far as I am able to find out, who can tell precisely the difference between a gross and a net ton. As a matter of fact, net tonnage is not a fixed term. In referring to submarine sinkings, gross tons are always used, together with the English reckoning of 2,240 pounds to the ton. In a general way cargo carrying space is figured in cubic feet and then divided by 100 to get gross tonnage. Displacement is quite another matter. That kind of tonnage means the weight of the ship itself, as I understand it, although the word suggests the weight of the water displaced by the ship. Those who follow the submarine news should bear in mind that tonnage given is gross and that weight of cargo is not included.

POPULAR LADY MINISTER

Times have certainly changed in old New England. Now it is the women who lay down the law, and from the pulpit, too. Rev. Grace E. Mayer Stokes is the popular pastor of the First Congregational church of Old Hadley, Mass. Her church pews are never empty or scantily filled. She is one of the best speakers in the churches of the district and bids fair to convert many outside the fold by her energetic, forceful and strong interpretations of the Holy Writ.

FOIL PARIS COCHERS

United States Soldiers Prove Not to Be Easy Marks.

Victimized at First, They Study Regulations and Now Pay Only Legal Rates.

Paris.—Paris cabmen have not yet decided whether the American soldiers will prove a welcome or an unwelcome addition to their patrons. When the men from across the sea first arrived they were all hailed by the cabmen as millionaires and the tips they received were in keeping with the reputation thus bestowed upon them. But trust the Paris cocher to kill the goose that lays a golden egg.

He practiced his old game of taking the most indirect route to reach his destination and never had any change when tendered payment. At night if no policeman was in sight he always balked at taking an American uniform without first extorting a promise to pay a fixed price for the course, which was at least twice his legal fare.

The Americans stood this imposition for a time but finally got tired of being continually bled. Now they give no more than the French as a tip and as they become better acquainted with the city check the wily cabman when he attempts to take them by roundabout routes. They have solved the night holdup by climbing into the cab despite the protestations of the cabmen. If it is not later than the hour fixed for him to quit work he must take them at the regular fare where they wish to go or drive to a police station and justify his refusal.

As the average cocher wants as little to do with the police as possible, he rarely if ever appeals to them.

At one of the ports used by the Americans for landing troops the cabmen charged the soldiers such exorbitant prices that the men went to the police, obtained copies of the regulations governing the cochers and thereafter paid only regular fares, giving no tips. The cochers retaliated by refusing to take American soldiers as passengers, and if the men got into a cab anyhow they stopped dead where they were and refused to move. It was some days before a compromise was reached.

YALE HAS COLLECTION OF WAR LITERATURE

New Haven, Conn.—Yale university has collected probably the most exhaustive mass of material on the great world war in this country. Under direction of Prof. Wilbur C. fort, Ky.

Frankfort, Ky.—Roger W. Dale, alias Frank Hancock, pleaded guilty before United States Commissioner Ward to violating the Mann act by bringing sixteen-year-old Bessie Little Smith of Toledo, Ohio, to Frankfort, where they have been living since October 3.

According to the girl's story she met Dale in the building where her father has his office. Dale became the go-between for written questions and answers passing between the girl and a trance medium, whom she never saw and who was supposed to live at 2013 Putnam street, the home of Dale's mother.

One of these communications from the medium conveyed the information to the girl that she was in love with Dale, who would marry her. Then Dale asked her to run away with him. Dale told her they were married and showed her a certificate.

PROFESSOR TELLS OF TRENCH VISIT

Views Desolation Wrought by War on Flanders Battle Front.

SOUL OF YPRES LIVES ON

Town, Which Has Been Through Two Great Hells and Many Lesser Ones, Is Symbol of Tragedy of Belgium.

Knoxville, Tenn.—How long will the war last?

The best answer to this question heard along the Flanders battle front by Prof. George Herbert Clarke, who has returned to the chair of English at the University of Tennessee, was by a South African, who remarked reflectively: "Well, sir, I can't rightly say; but it looks to me as though this 'ere war' 'as settled down now into a sort of lastitchousness."

Professor Clarke ventured to ask the question all along the firing line, "How long is a piece of string?" retorted an English statesman.

"A certain major did me the honor to invite my own conjecture," Professor Clarke says, "and, still better, agreed with it; but I found, for the most part, the expected wide diversity of opinion."

Another interesting question arose on board ship during Professor Clarke's return from Europe: Is a ship safer than the trenches? Certain Canadian officers on the boat urged the negative of the question, but the university professor was staunch for the ultimative.

Less Danger in Trenches.

Canadian officers said that there was less danger in trenches because shells seldom struck the trenches, and the shot usually went over the heads of the men. But Professor Clarke was of the opinion that there is less risk in a ship on the ocean, even though the Kaiser's sea sharks, submarines, menace vessels, and should a boat be torpedoed, it would probably not be long until passengers were bound for Davy Jones' locker, even if they were in lifeboats or life savers.

The desolated town of Ypres was visited by Professor Clarke while in the war zone. "The American imagination has been deeply touched by the tragedy of Belgium," he says, "and, with the exception of its brutal protagonists, all the world shares that pity."

"Ypres is its symbol. The town's body is decimated, dead. It has been through two great hells and many lesser ones, but its soul lives on, intact. The town mayor impressed me as precisely the type of man to govern Ypres today. He is its military mayor, a sort of father-and-mother to Ypres, a brave, broad-shouldered Cornishman, who has risen from the ranks, and who administers the affairs of his ruined borough with a pride and zeal that are not short of beautiful. He is not wholly obsessed by military values; he does not wish the visitor to miss the rare places of Ypres that are still, in their grim settling, more or less visible."

"The other day he helped a Belgian to discover his little hoard of francs that had been buried in the town during the first bombardment. He shows him judgment and instant sympathy as each is needed. If Ypres is Belgium, he—English as he is—Ypres: brave, steady, enduring and confident. Looking up whimsically at a shell that seemed to me to burst uncomfortably near (but then, they all sounded like that), he remarked: 'Ah, high explosive; I thought as much. Perhaps you had better be going now.' And we went with a sense of abiding regard for this sturdy soldier, while a deafening crash close by announced that the British guns had something urgent to say to the enemy, something that could not wait."

A Dantean Desolation.

The word Somme similarly has expanded into a novel and grotesque symbol, Professor Clarke says. "For the Somme is a Dantean desolation, extending mile beyond mile—a desolation of splintered tree trunks, stripped, woe-begone boughs, charned up subsoils that look like plague spots upon the corpse of earth. I thought of Coleridge's 'rotting sea.' The adjective is pale and ineffective here. I thought of Browning's 'Childo Roland.'"

But there is another side to the Somme picture: brisk movement at the appropriate spots is not wanting, as there is a distant train bawling its freight; German prisoners working the roads; Tommy at his endless fatigue jobs; guns volleying overhead; the army service corps, "carryin' on" with its never-ceasing string of lumbering lorries; and, perhaps most completely diverting of all, the momentary appearance of a Kentucky mule on the sky-line, tossing his heels in an abandoned ecstasy.

Professor Clarke was connected with the intelligence department of the British war office in the war zone.

Finds an Auto Cap.

Yellville, Ark.—Al Jones and party were stalled in a waste region near here because Jones had left behind the cap of the tank of his auto, a 1917 model. Finally, when he was starting on a 15-mile walk to the nearest town, Jones struck his foot against a cap of the same model of the same car. He says the company has service stations everywhere.

Telephone Courtesy

The people who get the greatest amount of good out of their telephone are those who talk over it as though face to face.

Courtesy smooths out difficulties and promotes the promptest possible connections.

The operators of the BELL System are trained to be patient and polite under all circumstances, but they will do better work if they meet with patience and politeness on the part of the telephone users.

The fact that you cannot see the operator or the other party should not cause you to overlook this. The best results come through the practice of mutual courtesy.

TONNAGE NEEDS OF ARMY ABROAD

Over 200 Ships Will Be Required
Constantly to Supply the American Force.

GREAT AREA FOR SEA BASE

Estimated That 100 Pounds of Freight
Per Man Per Day Must Be Un-
loaded at the Port of De-
barkation.

CHARLES H. GRASTY.
New York Times.

London. — The American army in France will need some transporting. Here are figures that are at least approximately correct.

It is estimated that 100 pounds of freight per man per day must be unloaded at the port of debarkation. Therefore, when at the end of two years, we have, say, one million men in France, we must unload daily 100,000,000 pounds of freight, or 50,000 tons.

Three thousand tons can be unloaded daily from a good-sized ship; hence 17 ships at the wharves, each of them unloading 3,000 tons, will fill the requirements. In the United States 17 ships must be loading 50,000 tons a day. This makes a total of 34 ships at the docks. Taking as a basis a 6,000 ton (dead weight) ship, we see that 17 ships must leave New York every two days and 17 ships leave some French port every two days in transit with army freight. Assuming ten days as the time of passage, there would be 170 ships (6,000 tons) en route to and from the United States, which, added to the 34 at the docks, will make a total of 204 ships, assuming no loss or delay.

Enormous Supplies Needed.

To indicate the quantities of certain articles required, fuel for cooking for six months, on a basis of half a cord per day per hundred men, would amount to 13,500 cords. Owing to scarcity of fuel part of this may have to be brought to France.

With 1,000,000 men, there will be approximately 200,000 animals. At 14 pounds of hay a day, there would be required for six months over 450,000,000 pounds of hay, which must be imported, and also 360,000,000 pounds of oats. Rations will require 815,000,000 pounds. Ammunition will run into billions of pounds.

This freight calculation does not consider what would be required in building or rebuilding railroads or communications. The space required for store housing at the base would be about as follows: Rations, etc., 250 acres; fuel, 150 acres; forage, 450 acres; remount depots, 250 acres; cantonments for casualties, etc., 800 acres; sick and wounded, 1,000 acres; engineer, ordnance, and signal corps, 1,500 acres. Allowing for roads, office buildings, barracks, etc., the total would be about 5,000 acres.

Confusion in Figures.

Always there is considerable confusion about shipping figures. Knoxville, Tenn.—How long will the war last?

The best answer to this question heard along the Flanders battle front by Prof. George Herbert Clarke, who has returned to the chair of English at the University of Tennessee, was by a South African, who remarked reflectively: "Well, sir, I can't rightly say; but it looks to me as though this 'ere war 'as settled down now into a sort of Instichoo-shoo."

The people who get the greatest amount of good out of their telephone are those who talk over it as though face to face.

Courtesy smooths out difficulties and promotes the promptest possible connections.

The operators of the BELL System are trained to be patient and polite under all circumstances, but they will do better work if they meet with patience and politeness on the part of the telephone users.

The fact that you cannot see the operator or the other party should not cause you to overlook this. The best results come through the practice of mutual courtesy.

In Palestine the British forces under Gen. Allenby continue to make progress against the Turks, who are being aided by German and Austrian gunners. During the latter part of last week several additional towns and villages were captured on the 600-square mile battlefield. In addition to numerous guns and many prisoners, East of Gaza a large enemy force was defeated after a violent fight, and twelve guns, three machine guns and a hundred prisoners were captured. Austrian gunners serving the guns were killed or wounded.

RED CROSS EXPANDS

Growth of Organization a Marvel of the War.

From a Membership of 20,000 It Has Increased to More than 4,000,000 Members.

Chicago.—The growth of the American Red Cross in the last year has been one of the marvels of the war. The public mind has in some measure kept track of the army, the navy, the aviation corps, the marines, and other parts of Uncle Sam's great fighting machine as they expanded. But consider the case of the Red Cross—least known of all three years ago.

When the war began there were 20,000 members of the Red Cross scattered about the country, chiefly in the larger cities. Not one citizen in twenty could have told how it worked or what it did, except that in great disasters it cared for the victims.

Even one year ago, when the war had been going on for more than two years, and it seemed inevitable that we should be dragged in, there were only 103,587 Red Cross members and 250 chapters.

Today there are more than 4,000,000 Red Cross members, and 2,733 chapters, with new chapters being formed and new members enrolled all the time. Four hundred thousand of these 4,000,000 members are paid subscribers of the Red Cross Magazine.

Of course this tremendous expansion, coming in a single year, has utterly overwhelmed the scheme of administration which was adequate for 170,000 members. An entirely new system was imperative, and it is now being installed. Briefly, this is how it works:

The native head of the Red Cross is General Manager Harvey D. Gibson, who has volunteered his time for the duration of the war. The work is apportioned among bureaus—those of development, publicity, women, nursing, civilian relief, military relief, supplies and accounting.

The territory of the United States has been divided into thirteen sections, each headed by a division manager. Each of these managers, like Mr. Gibson, has volunteered his services without pay so long as the war shall last. Each manager is now reorganizing the administration of his division to correspond with that at Washington, with a director at the head of each bureau and any of them also volunteers, work without pay.

ROUND UP YUKON DOG TEAMS

Horses Also Replace Autos on Trails in Alaska After the Snows Begin.

Dawson, Y. T.—The lower Yukon river mail contractors are getting busy on their big winter system. Numerous dog teams still are used on the thousands of miles of Alaska trails. The most important route perhaps, is that between Fairbanks and Chitina, at the terminal of the Copper River railway.

Certain mail was handled over that route all summer by automobile, and these machines will continue running until the heavy snowfalls in November. Large sleds drawn by horses then will be engaged.

Percy de Wolfe, the Dawson-Eagle mail carrier, has been busy for some time sending hay, grain and other supplies along the route in preparation for the winter service. He will use a launch as long as the river is clear of ice.

PEOPLE UNDERFED BY THE GERMANS

Weekly Ration Not Sufficient to Maintain Bodily Health and Vigor.

8 OUNCES OF MEAT A WEEK

Food Allowed to Germans and Inhabitants of Territory Occupied by Germans Is Lacking in Energy Producing Elements.

Washington.—Information concerning the weekly ration now being allowed the German people and the civilian population of the occupied portions of northern France and Belgium have been received by the United States food administration. In food value the ration is insufficient properly to maintain bodily health and vigor.

The German ration is as follows, the amount being those allowed per person per week:

Flour, 8.45 pounds; potatoes, 7.05 pounds; cereals (oats, beans and peas), 7 ounces; meat, 8.8 ounces; sugar, 3 ounces; butter and margarine, 2.8 ounces; and other fats, 2.8 ounces.

Stated in terms of American house-keeping, these items amount to sufficient flour to bake 4½ pounds of bread; one-half peck of potatoes; a cupful of beans, peas and oatmeal; one-half pound of meat; 12 dominoes of sugar; 6 individual puddles of butter; and an equal amount of other fats.

In Northern France.

For the population of that portion of northern France occupied by the Germans, the allowance is as follows:

Sufficient flour for five pounds of bread; one-fifth peck of potatoes; one cupful of meat, 12 1-3 ounces of bacon and lard; and 10 dominoes of sugar.

Here meat, butter and margarine are all replaced by bacon and lard. The allowance of flour and cereals are slightly increased, but the allowance of potatoes is less than half the German ration, while sugar is also reduced even below the meager German allowance.

The ration for the civilian population of the occupied portion of Belgium is similar to that of northern France, except bacon and lard are replaced by meat and butter. The German ration, compared with the ration used as standard for purposes of comparison by the food administration shows that in body building protein the Germans have 41 of a pound, and the standard ration 1.08 pounds. In fats, the German ration contains .43 of a pound, as compared with standard 7 pounds. In carbohydrates, the German ration contains 4.17 pounds, as compared to 9.0 pounds for the standard ration. In total calories, the German ration aggregates 10,542 as compared to 24,000 in the standard ration.

The standard ration is regarded as sufficient only for a person in a sedentary occupation, or one involving relatively slight physical labor; and yet it provides two and one-half times as much body-building protein, and nearly twice as much fat, and nearly two and one-half times as much carbohydrates as the German ration.

Ration Not Sufficient.

In the ration for northern France, the substitution of bacon and lard makes the weekly allowance of protein equal only three-fourths of the German ration, and only one-third of the standard ration.

In the whole, it may be said that for a person in an occupation requiring only a moderate degree of activity, these rations provide considerably less than the amounts requisite to maintain bodily health and vigor.

The greatest efficiency is in energy-producing foodstuffs, although the lack of body-building proteins is physiologically more important, and liable to have more serious and more permanent results.

MAKES OWN ENAMELED WARE

United States Now Producing Kitchen Utensils Formerly Imported From Germany and Austria.

New York.—The United States for the first time in its history is now producing all of the enameled utensils used in American households and in addition is able to supply large quantities to Europe and South and Central American countries. According to figures recently compiled housewives of the United States are at present buying enamel utensils at about the rate of $30,000,000 yearly. In former years a considerable portion of these goods was supplied by manufacturers of Sweden, Germany and Austria. Since the beginning of the war there has been a steady decline in these importations, and at the present time they are practically nil. Japan for a time sent in shipments of the ware, but as the quality of the Japanese goods was unsatisfactory, the supply from that source has largely ended.

A CHILD HATES OIL, CALOMEL, PILLS FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS" IF CROSS, SICK, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups (daily on each bottle). Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt!

A CHILD HATES OIL, CALOMEL, PILLS FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS" IF CROSS, SICK, FE-VERISH, CONSTIPATED.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic almost don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicate "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

A Soldier's Strength

Every enlisted man would stand up stronger during the first year's service if he could have the benefits of

because it fortifies the lungs and throat, creates strength to avoid gripe and pneumonia and makes rich blood to avert rheumatic tendencies.

Send a bottle of SCOTT'S to a relative or friend in the service.

The Norwegian cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is now refined in our own American laboratories, which makes it pure and palatable. Scott & Borne, Bloomfield, N.J. 17-14

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Have been built and actually delivered to retail buyers since August 1, 1916. These figures—320,817—represent the actual number of cars manufactured by us since August 1st, 1916, and delivered by our agents to retail buyers. This unusual fall and winter demand for FORD cars makes it necessary for us to confine the distribution of cars only to those agents who have orders for immediate delivery to retail customers, rather than to permit any agent to stock cars in anticipation of later spring sales.

We are issuing this notice to intending buyers that they may protect themselves against delay or disappointment in securing FORD cars. If, therefore, you are planning to purchase a FORD car, we advise you to place your order and take delivery now.

IMMEDIATE ORDERS WILL HAVE PROMPT ATTENTION.

Delay in buying at this time may cause you to wait several months. Enter your order to-day for immediate delivery with our authorized FORD agent listed below and don't be disappointed later on.

"POOR JOHN" TAYLOR.

Louisa, Ky.—John Taylor familiarly known as "Poor John," died at a hospital in this city following a long illness of general debility. Taylor was the wealthiest man in this section of Kentucky, the value of his estate being estimated at something like a million dollars. Much of his property consisted of land in Texas which he bought many years ago. His wife died a number of years ago, and no children were ever born to them. His nearest kin are fourteen nephews and nieces. Some time ago Mr. Taylor sent checks for $10,000 to each of his nephews and nieces as Christmas gifts. He said nothing to them about his intention, and the gifts came as a surprise.

CALIFORNIA COW BREAKS WORLD'S BUTTER RECORD

Woodland, Cal., November 10.—The world's record for butter production has been broken by Aggie Acme, a Holstein cow owned by A. W. Morris & Sons, of Woodland in a test conducted under the supervision of the University of California.

The cow yielded 1,331.41 pounds of butter in 365 days; 1,167.96 pounds of butter in 305 days and 24.61 pounds of butter in two years. In each instance the records displace those established by Keystone Beauty Plum, Johanna, a Holstein owned by Stevens & Sons, of Pennsylvania. It was contended.

Aggie Acme milk production in 605 days was 22,032.8 pounds.

RECORD FOR WEEK.

TUESDAY.

The situation in Russia as a result of the Bolshevik revolt is still obscure. No direct dispatches have been received from the Russian capital since Sunday evening when it was reported that there had been considerable street fighting in various parts of the city in which the military cadets, followers of Premier Kerensky, were victorious by the Bolshevik troops at several points. The fighting was begun by the cadets, who reported that Kerensky with a large body of men was close to the capital. The Premier and his followers, however, had not put in an appearance up to Sunday night.

The Italians are stoutly holding the line along the Piave, and also in the region running westward through the hilly country from the vicinity of Feltre to the Sette Comuni. Several attempts made by the enemy to pierce the northern front and encircle the Italian left wing have failed. Opposing armies are in little array along the Piave and a heavy carnage is in progress.

A state of war has been proclaimed in Finland. The provisional Soldiers' Committee has appointed a sailor to succeed Gen. Nekrasoff. Reports that the Aland Islands had been occupied by Germany were discredited by dispatches from the Scandinavian capitals to the effect that travelers leaving there Friday reported normal conditions.

To facilitate transportation of lumber needed for new ship building, yards 1,600 flat cars have been rushed to lines operating in the southeastern part of the country, the Railroad War Board announced.

MONDAY.

Apparently the Bolshevik uprising in Petrograd is nearing its end and Premier Kerensky may soon again be in power. Late advices from Petrograd are to the effect that the revolutionaries are to be defeated in Moscow and at Tamskoe-Selo and from the latter town, which is fifteen miles from Petrograd, are retreating in disorderly mob toward the capital. In Petrograd, fighting has occurred, with the Communists and other loyalists having the better of the Bolshevik element, while Kerensky, with 500,000 men is on his way from Gatchina to re-enforce the loyalists. To stay his progress however the rails of the Petrograd-Gatchina railway have been torn up and three forces of the Bolsheviks
